

ABSTRACT

Mask for fabricating a large sized display panel, wherein a main frame having a plurality of holes is fabricated, and sub-masks are fitted in the holes in the main frame relevant to a size, and forms of patterns to be fabricated, thereby eliminating sagging and shadowing, and being suitable for fabricating large sized, or mass production of panels.